

Your wedding vows should convey the importance of your commitment on this special day and fully express the love you feel. However, for some, writing your own vows may seem overwhelming and very stressful. Here are some beautiful examples of wedding vows you can use or modify to fit your needs...

{Name}, I stand before you today, in the presence of God our family and friends, to offer you my heart in a journey filled with unconditional love. I promise from this day forward, to honor you always, to trust you even in times of struggle, and to respect you for all that you are today and all that you will become tomorrow. I no longer walk this world alone, for today, I am honored to become your wife/husband. {Bride/Groom} Do you take {name} to be your lawfully wedded husband/wife, your faithful partner, to give and to receive, to speak and to listen, to inspire and to respond? (I do) This is a commitment made in love, kept in faith and eternally made new.

I, (name), take you, (name), to be my [opt: lawfully wedded] (husband/wife), my best friend, my partner, my constant friend, loving what I know of you, and trusting what I do not yet know. In the presence of God, our family and friends, I offer you my solemn vow to love, honor and respect you in sickness and in health, in good times and in bad, and in joy as well as in sorrow from this day forward. I promise to love you unconditionally, to support you, to laugh with you and cry with you, and to cherish you as long as we both shall live.

To my best friend and my partner in life, I take you to be my lawfully wedded husband/wife, loving what I know of you today, and trusting what I do not yet know. In the presences of God, our family and friends, I offer you my solemn vow of love, honor and respect. I promise to hold your hand always, to laugh with you, to cry with you in good times and in bad, and to cherish you as long as we both shall live.

I (name), take you (name) to be my (husband/wife), my partner in life and my one true love. I will cherish our union and love you more each day than I did the day before. I will trust you and respect you, laugh with you and cry with you, loving you faithfully through good times and bad, regardless of the obstacles we may face together. I give you my hand, my heart, and my love, from this day forward for as long as we both shall live.

I, (name), take you, (name), to be my [opt: lawfully wedded] (husband/wife), my constant friend, my faithful partner and my love from this day forward. In the presence of God, our family and friends, I offer you my solemn vow to be your faithful partner in sickness and in health, in good times and in bad, and in joy as well as in sorrow. I promise to love you unconditionally, to support you in your goals, to honor and respect you, to laugh with you and cry with you, and to cherish you for as long as we both shall live.

I, (name), take you, (name), to be my friend, my lover, the (mother/father) of my children and my (husband/wife). I will be yours in times of plenty and in times of want, in times of sickness and in times of health, in times of joy and in times of sorrow, in times of failure and in times of triumph. I promise to cherish and respect you, to care and protect you, to comfort and encourage you, and stay with you, for all eternity.

I, (name), take you, (name), to be my partner, loving what I know of you, and trusting what I do not yet know. I eagerly anticipate the chance to grow together, getting to know the (man/woman) you will become, and falling in love a little more every day. I promise to love and cherish you through whatever life may bring us.
